international hands-on two-day facilitation training

facilitation bootcamp

What is facilitation bootcamp

- An intensive 2-day facilitation training built around practical simulation exercises and only a little bit of necessary theory.
- Suitable for complete beginners as well as for experienced facilitators - everyone will find something valuable in it.
- Whether you come from a public sector, private company, non-profit, media, academia or you are looking to pursue a freelance facilitator career, bootcamp is for you!

„Bootcamp is a fresh and intensive start into the world of facilitation.“

Why is facilitation needed?

Whether you lead an internal team meeting, a focus group, a public meeting or a big conference for key stakeholders, you need to ensure to:

- Stick to the topic,
- Gather valuable insights from participants,
- Keep it efficient and dynamic,
- Avoid and mitigate potential conflicts and tensions.

You simply need to master your facilitation skills to ensure success of your meetings and convenings.

The need for facilitation skills has been clear for a long time, yet relatively few individuals truly master these essential abilities. And since they are difficult to acquire from reading a book alone, at Participation Factory we have come up with the Facilitation Bootcamp, built around so much needed practice and real-life scenarios.
